Disney Publishes 2014 Citizenship Performance Summary

2014 was another year of significant progress for Disney Citizenship. We continued to work diligently toward our Citizenship goals and to inspire even more families and communities who share our commitment to building a brighter tomorrow.

We are proud of our accomplishments and are excited to highlight a few from our 2014 Citizenship Performance Summary:

- We’ve made progress against our environmental stewardship commitments, including a 31% decrease in net emissions from 2012 levels and the first disclosure of our water usage companywide.

- As part of our continued efforts to operate a responsible global supply chain, we published our facility list and achieved 82% visibility into facilities producing Disney-branded products, an increase from 58% in 2013.

- We built on our commitment to encourage healthier lifestyles, reaching 100 million U.S. households each week with healthy-living content and experiences.

- We’ve met and exceeded several targets ahead of schedule, including the donation of 18 million books as part of our long-standing tradition of storytelling and fostering imagination.

Click here to read more of our citizenship stories, view stakeholder feedback, and review our GRI Index.